COMPARISON CHART

In order to help users navigate their way around the different cables available today, we have created the '5-star' criteria system to rate and classify cables in line with the 5 most crucial operational aspects. On this page, you can find a short explanation of these criteria as well as what the corresponding star levels mean for each, and further on you can find our Comparison Chart including a wide range of cables and how they performed during our tests against these 5 criteria.
